

I am outraged that the federal government would attempt to interfere with a business' free rights to broadcast. The NAB's petition 04-160 is out of line and should be rejected. HBO is a pay service and as such can display what they choose. XM Radio is a pay service and should be able to broadcast what they choose. I find XM's traffic and weather WAY more useful than anything that public radio broadcasts as it is available when I need it, not when the radio station believes I do.

I respectfully urge the FCC to reject this petition and any like it and support XM's ability to provide the kind of programming that I demand, deserve, and pay for.

Sincerely,

Sean Lemson
